If you want swimmers run over by motor boats and wave runners and chopped up by propellers, if you want kayaks and canoes swamped, if you want water and sewer lines going to float homes broken, by all means do away with the "No Wake Zone" in Bayview. I really do not think that is the smart thing to do. As far as out of community boaters who are upset with the "No Wake Zone" and want to hit the waterway going full bore, let them go somewhere else. There are plenty of other places to launch that do not have "No Wake Zones."
